Governor George C. Wallace announced Monday night he will be up the Department of Public Safety immediately by the hiring of 100 additional state troopers. The move was apparently taken to cope with any emergencies that might arise under testing of the new civil rights law, but the Governor did not say that was the reason. Uniforms for the 100 new troopers were ordered Monday afternoon, Wallace said the purchase of new cars will be made as the need arises.

He said there is sufficient money in the Public Safety Department to meet the additional expenditure during this year. The costs of the troopers' uniforms were not included in the state budget, but the legislature meets again in 1965 and Wallace said he will then ask for additional money to meet expenses of the increased department.

The state now has approximately 400 troopers. Recently they were issued carbines equipped with bayonets and all the men have been trained in riot control.

The new troopers will be selected from existing Merit System applications. Twenty Alabama delegates and alternates are leaving this week to attend the Republican National Convention in San Francisco, two of the Alabama delegates, Mrs. Joe Simpson, of Birmingham, and Dick Bennett, of Greenville, are on the platform committee and are expected to try their hand at keeping a strong civil rights plank out of the GOP offering.

Tandy Little, of Montgomery, and Mrs. Russell Leonard, of Anniston, are on the convention's important rules committee which meets Monday.

The Alabama delegation will be settled mostly at the Travelodge Motel and the Richelle Hotel in San Francisco and will caucus Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Republicans have the best chance to elect a president if they will stay clear of a strong civil rights platform and nominate a moderate.

force the city's indecent exposure law. All appetites were whetted by a copious bathing suit display in the store's front window. The fashion show finally started. The first number was a shapely model in a bikini. She was greeted with a great approval by the crowd.

Then out stepped the second model in the topless suit. She was greeted at first with shocked silence, then a few chuckles, and finally a great deal of muttering as the onlookers drifted away. The topless suit model was a 7-year-old girl.

Ben Mathis, Negro convict captured in Ozark late Saturday, has confessed the murders of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edward Morgan, of Enterprise. Dale County Sheriff William M. Walker, said Mathis told of entering the Morgan home in Enterprise and killing the invalid Morgan first and slaying Mrs. Morgan after she screamed.

Mathis was captured by a Negro deputy sheriff in Ralph Cunningham, who was alerted by two younger Negroes, one of them his son. He had been sought since the Morgan murders were discovered at 2:30 a.m. June 23. According to Walker and other investigators, Mathis had eluded hundreds of searches, including a contingent of National Guardsmen, by hiding in woodyards and beneath houses throughout the city, Cunningham, deputized by Walker early during the two-week search, found Mathis sitting on the front porch of a home in the Negro section, Cunningham's son, Ralph Jr., 16, and another Negro, Darrin Crittenden, 23, became suspicious of Mathis when they saw him leaning against a tree in the Ozark Negro area. They said Mathis sat on the porch and Crittenden followed him while young Cunningham went to notify his father. The three found Mathis seated on a front porch as though casually observing the search. Cunningham said Mathis started to run when he got out of his car, but that he stopped when he told him to halt.

Mathis had a can of beer in his possession when he was caught and ate them from the Morgan home. Walker said Mathis was covered in dirt which even filled his hair.

The three Ozark Negroes who figured in the capture of Mathis will share in the $2,500 reward money, Walker said. Governor George Wallace had offered $1,000 and the City of Enterprise put up another $1,000. Enterprise's mayor offered $500 in a personal account.

Mathis is reported to have said in his confession that he failed in an attempt to enter the Morgan home through a window and went through the back door instead. A window screen had been pulled loose at the top but remained fastened on hooks at the bottom.

One of the woodyards in which Mathis is reported to have hidden during the two-week search is within sight of police headquarters, where hundreds of searches were centered at various times. Officers could not specify the houses under which the convict had hidden. Police said the Negro is known as an escape artist who always hides after running a very short distance. In the past, he has always gone directly to his mother's home in Troy as soon as surveillance is lifted, they said.

MRS. F. M. McDANIEL displays two different color dahlias on the same plant, one a pure white and the other a bright yellow. Mrs. McDaniel said she purchased seed from a school children about mid-April. It is very unusual for one plant to produce blooms of two different colors as the one now flowering in Mrs. McDaniel's flower garden. The white colors appear on the same stem of the plant, but the white blooms actually look more like a white mum than a dahlia. The McDaniels have many other beautiful blooming flowers in their yard.

Presidents Abraham Lincoln and John F. Kennedy both were slain by assassins. Both were concerned during their administration with civil rights. Lincoln was elected in 1860 and Kennedy was elected in 1960. Both were slain on a Friday and in the presence of their wives. Both were shot in the head. Their successors were both named Johnson. Both were Southerners and members of the Democratic party and had served in the U.S. Senate before being elected Vice-President. Lincoln's successor was born in 1808 and Kennedy's successor was born in 1917. John Wilkes Booth, Lincoln's assassin, was born in 1839. Oswald, Kennedy's assassin, was born in 1939. Both John and Oswald were both Southerners who favored unpopular and erratic causes. Both assassins were slain before having a trial. The wives of both Lincoln and Kennedy lost a child by a man who was living in the White House. Lincoln's secretary was named Lincoln. Kennedy and Kennedy's secretary was named Lincoln. There are several letters in the spelling of both their names. Both Presidents were over 56 years of age.

PRESIDENT'S PIN is applied to the coat of the new president of the Jaycees at their annual banquet Friday night at the Elba Country Club. Coffee County FARM NEWS

Farm NEWS

BY TOM CASADAY, CO. AGENT

I have never seen a county so much on the move and so progressive as is Coffee County. I was impressed with this again late last week as we were finishing up our Coffee County 4-H Club Foundation Drive.

We have gotten some $28,000 out of a goal of $30,000 at the present time. I talked with a lot of business leaders within the past few days, and most of these folks believe in the future development of this great county.

I checked with L. B. McCall of the Goodman Community last week to point out to him the importance of controlling leaf-spot. As you know, we recommend four dustings 10 days apart beginning the first week in July. However, this could possibly be delayed a week or so this year because we planned a few days later than usual.

L. B. didn't want to talk too much about his peanuts. He wanted to show me his corn. He is real proud of it. He planted it about 16 inches in the drill in 36-inch rows. L. B. used a hybrid seed and sided dressed with about 80 pounds of Nitrogen (which is our recommendation). The rains have come just about right for him. His corn is real good.

Speaking of corn, I talked with John B. Johnson and M. W. Donaldson of the Curtis Community the other day. They have had plenty of rain, in that community and elsewhere in the county, I have never seen finer corn prospects. It really looks good.

Kennamer Gives Tips On Pond Management

Pond owners probably never think of fishing as a part of their management program. But according to Earl F. Kennamer, Auburn University Extension Service Fish and Wildlife Specialist, fishing is as much a part of management as stocking, weed control and fertilization.

However, the big food supply months make fish hard to catch. And in some cases, fish are probably just lazy.

If you are having trouble carrying out the fishing part of your management program, Kennamer offers these suggestions:

First, fish flowing stream mouths. Second, fish low water levels for bass and rising water for catfish. Third, change lures often and fish from the surface to the bottom to find where the fish are. Fourth, fish during late afternoon, early daylight, and after-dark hours. And, probably the most important of all, go often.

I am sure that each of these 4-H's will do a good job in representing the 4-H Clubs of Coffee County.

Last week I ran across a couple of gardens that were seriously affected by nematodes. You can easily tell if you have a nematode problem by examining the roots of diseased-looking plants. Nematodes usually stunt the growth of plants but rarely kills them. Nematode is probably the best treatment available to the gardeners.

Cotton boll weevils and bollworms are doing their best to lower cotton yields. Keep a close check on these insects and follow a good control program.

Last week we found a good bit of worm and white-fringe beetle infestation on peanuts. Most of the beetle infestation, up to this time, appears to be in the southern part of the county.

Controlling those weeds in your pasture can pay big dividends.

We recommend 2,4-D amine—but please be careful. I noticed several fields of cotton last week that had been seriously damaged by 2,4-D. Control those pasture weeds, but use caution.

Cornfield Weeds

Cut Grain Yield

Broadleaf weeds in corn cut yields and increase labor at harvest time.

"Many Coffee County farmers could profit by spending 50 cents per acre for 1 pint of 2,4-D amine to control weeds in corn," says T. C. Casaday, County Agent. After corn is 12 inches tall, use 1 pint of 2,4-D amine per acre provided it has 4 pounds of acid equivalent per gallon.

2,4-D will kill germinating grass and broadleaf weed seed, retard weed growth to two to three weeks and often eliminate rank growth of weeds at harvest. Don't use 2,4-D when corn is growing rapidly or silking and tasseling.

Casaday adds that it's best to apply the herbicide when the air is still or blowing away from easily damaged crops.

"A lay-by application of 2,4-D outside the home," added Ledbetter, "residual sprays work best."

FARM BRIEF

Improper handling of sweet potatoes during harvest often results in loss of one-half to three-fourths of the market value of the potato.

Miss Linda Crook, whose marriage to Gerald New, of Wedowee, will be solemnized at the Methodist Church in Elba on Sunday, July 19, at 4 in the afternoon, has been the inspiration for a series of parties recently.

Miss Crook was complimented Monday night, June 29, when her aunts, Mrs. Eric Crook and Mrs. Jack Snellgrove, were hostesses at a lingerie and linen shower at the home of Mrs. Crook.

Decorations in the parlor were in the color theme which the honoree has chosen for her wedding. Pink and white flower arrangements were used. A feature decoration was a bride doll surrounded with pink and white rosebuds.

The hostesses served party refreshments. Their gift to the honoree was a lovely pink duster.

Guests included, the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Crook, and Mrs. Pat Williams, Mrs. Doris Bean, of Washington, D.C., Mrs. Joan Cannon, Mrs. Doris Cooper, Mrs. Mary Carol Ward, Mrs. Lurline Martin, Mrs. Jennie Crook, Miss Jacqueline Shellgrove, Mrs. Judy Marier, of Crestview, Florida, Mrs. Jerry Cooper, of Pensacola, Mrs. Kathy Jacob, Mrs. Linda Brazelton, and Miss Freddie Johnson.

On Thursday, July 2, Mrs. Cammie Johnson and Miss Freddie Johnson gave a morning tea honoring Miss Crook. Pretty arrangements of mixed summer flowers were used in decoration.

A party plate with an ice drink was served.

Guests were the honoree, Mrs. Lloyd Crook, Mrs. Mary Carol Ward, Mrs. Linda Brazelton, Miss Joan Anderson, Miss Suzanne Clark, Mrs. Judy Marier, Mrs. Patsy Meek, and Mrs. Kathy Jacobs.

Miss Crook's bridal shower was given Wednesday afternoon, July 8, at the home of Mrs. Frances Farris. Other hostesses were Mrs. Linda Brazelton, Mrs. Kathy Jacobs, Mrs. Suzanne Clark, Mrs. Helen McCollough, Miss Olive Gamble, and Miss Sandra Farris.

Mrs. Farris greeted the guests and presented them with the receiving which included the guest of honor, Mrs. Lloyd Crook, Mrs. Troy New, mother of the future groom, and Miss Natalie Jones, a future bride.

Serving the wedding cakes, nuts, and mints from the beautifully appointed table were Kathy Jacobs, Linda Brazelton, Becky Bancroft Cooper and family, all of Elba.

Mrs. Mose Brunson, of Gainesville, Florida, Mrs. Christine Ives, and Miss Cheryl Ives, of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fox Brunson and other relatives.

Mrs. Helen McCollough registered the 68 guests who called.

Joan Brazelton, Ann Waters, and Lanelle Johnson ushered the guests to the gift rooms.

The artistic flower arrangements throughout the reception rooms were the work of Mrs. Sybil Taylor.

The honoree, a petite blonde, was beautiful in a lovely dress of pink and white. She wore a white orchid shoulder corsage.

The Tom Beales, of Mobile, and Professor J.D. Whitman, Jr., of Tallahassee, visited the Jim Whitmans recently.

YOU SHOULD KNOW THIS ABOUT MEDICINES

There have been frequent reports about serious and dangerous results from overdoses of medicines given to infants and children. A five grain tablet of aspirin can be a poisonous dose to an infant. Almost any household remedy can be dangerous if improperly taken.

Subject to variation, it is important to know that an average dose for a one month infant is 1/16th and a five year old about 1/8th. Now you can see why it is important to read directions carefully and follow your physician's instructions exactly.

machine with the built-in brain

As you know, it takes a while to learn to do something right—now long depends on what you're trying to do. The same goes for a piece of machinery—you've got to get the mechanical brains working right so the rest of the machine will do everything it's supposed to do.

Well, according to the toughest critics there are—our customers—the Lilliston Peanut Combine has the job down pat. As one peanut farmer put it—"there must be a built-in brain in the Lilliston that knows what has to be done to harvest peanuts. That kind of perfection can only come with years of experience."

Fifty-two years to be exact.

Of course, it didn't take half a century for us to deliver the kind of mechanical harvesting that works. Combines we made fourteen years ago are still doing the job they were made for. But you've really got to see what happens when the 64 Lilliston takes the field. There's nothing like it.

Hudson Decorated With USAF Commendation Medal For Meritorious Service Performed With Missiles

Technical Sergeant Carroll L. Hudson received a military decoration medal to him, at Patrick AFB, Florida, but he says he doesn't deserve it.

Sergeant Hudson says, "I've got a bunch of fine people on my crew. They've got an official citation accompanying the presentation."

That's what Sgt. Hudson says. An official citation accompanying the presentation of the Air Force commendation medal to him says: "Technical Sergeant Carroll L. Hudson distinguished himself by meritorious service while assigned to Minuteman Operations Branch from June 1st, 1963 to February 13, 1964."

"During this period, Sergeant Hudson's outstanding professional skill, knowledge and leadership aided immeasurably in the corporation three major missile tests essential for the operations Branch from June 1st, 1963 to February 13, 1964."

The distinctive accomplishments of Sergeant Hudson reflect credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.

Sgt. Hudson is Electronics Crew Chief at Complex Silo 22, Cape Kennedy Air Force Station. He has participated in 19 launches of the USAF Minuteman.

Before each launch he and the crew that he's so proud of must make complicated electronics installations and adaptations that vary according to the test's objectives.

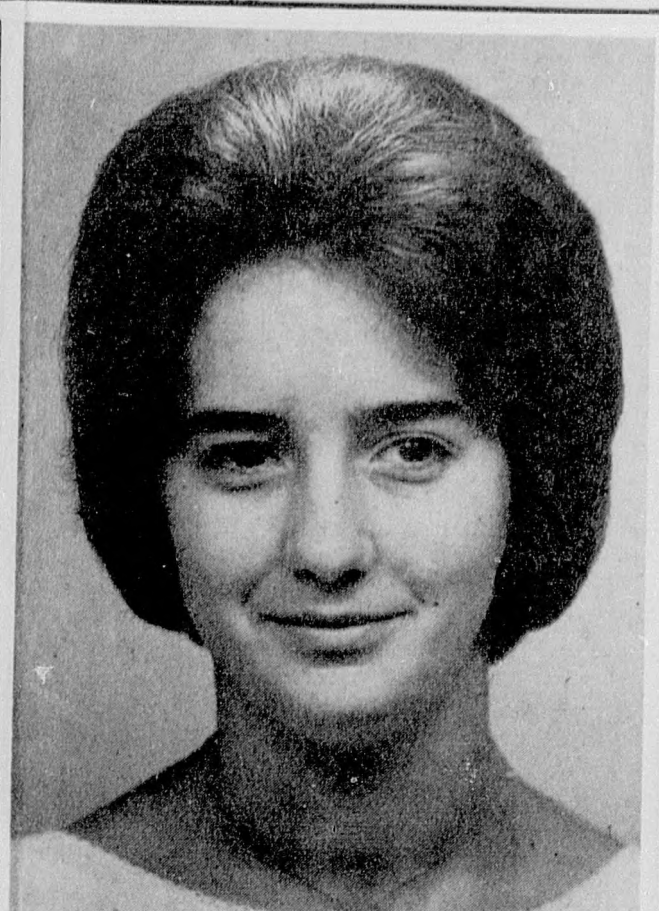

In the series of tests specifically referred to in the Air Force commendation citation, there were unusual problems with regard to time, material and range coordination. The sergeant and his crew literally worked around the clock to complete their job under conditions that were generally adjusted unbeatable.

Sgt. Hudson, 30, joined the Air Force in 1957 and arrived at Patrick in April 1963, transferring from Air Proving Ground Center, Eglin AFB, Florida.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron R. Hudson, Opp, Alabama, and son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cowen, Route 2, Elba, Alabama, he and his wife, Janice, live at 2559 Lorna Drive, Eau Gallie, Florida.
